Hello,

The release we utilize is a national form from the Administrative Office; we don't alter it or change the contents for our defendants who are under supervision.

The intent of speaking with defendant's treatment provider is to collaborate and ensure they're receiving adequate services, are complying with treatment recommendations, and are not a risk of harm to themselves or others. The intent is not to seek out information that would jeopardize the defendant's status on bond; rather, we collaborate to ensure he is successful while on bond.

I hope this provides some clarity.

If speaking with his treatment provider is not permitted, I would refer Mr. Adelsberg to our contract provider to satisfy the ordered bond conditions and allow for a collaborative approach to supervision.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Thanks,
